

Call for UK providers of pre-university summer school programmes

The British Council in China has been approached by a Chinese agency looking for UK providers of pre-university summer school programmes on behalf of an international school based in Zhejiang province.

This year, the international school wants to send a total of about 100 students aged 14-18 to the UK to participate in summer school programmes, with the aim of preparing them for entry into top UK universities. The school has expressed a particular interest in providers based in Oxford and Cambridge.

To express interest in this opportunity, please contact Ms Xu Xun at xu.xun@britishcouncil.org.cn by Friday 15 May, with a short introduction of your institution and a brief outline of the programme you intend to offer along with a quote.

Please note, the UK provider will be expected to arrange accommodation for participants.
