Dear Sir/Madam,

As part of the #EmergingEnglish series of online events, In partnership with the China Education Association for International Exchange (CEAIE), the British Council English For Education Systems (EES) China are very happy to be able to invite you to attend the China-UK Higher Education Online Symposium on English Medium Education (EME) to be held on 22nd June 2020 from 16:00 – 17:45 (Beijing time) / 9:00 – 10:45 (UK time).

Event Description:

The #EmergingEnglish China-UK Higher Education Online Symposium on English Medium Education (EME) will share current insight on the China Higher Education context as we emerge from the Covid-19 pandemic with a particular focus on English Medium Education (EME) and teacher CPD within the sector. The event will contribute impressions and sector insight from key HE stakeholders, including the British Council EES team, on both current and new initiatives and consider how these might impact the ongoing internationalisation of education and EME provision in China. Through sharing and better mutual understanding, the symposium hopes to help identify potential opportunities for future cooperation and partnership.

The event will:

- share insight on China's Higher Education EME priorities and new English-based initiatives post-Covid-19;
- share insight on the work already carried out by EES in China over the past 4 years within the area of EME and its impact; and provide curated insights from the 2019 Beijing EMI symposium proceedings and related research findings;
- discuss and better understand emerging opportunities in online course design, methodology and assessment, providing further insight into opportunities in these areas;
- help create networking opportunities for the UK sector.
