The conference for leaders of international education

What is Going Global?

Going Global is the world's largest open forum for international tertiary education leaders and specialists. It provides an unparalleled opportunity to form new collaborative relationships, networks and partnerships with peers from around the world and gain access to the latest international innovative research and thought leadership.

Even before the recent pandemic, universities were under pressure to reimagine higher education. At Going Global 2021 we are going to reimagine higher education through the following lenses:

- The changing student body: the student body is evolving and changing, expecting new modes of delivery, greater flexibility in how, when and where they learn and different ways to engage internationally.
- Serving the post-pandemic society: how will the current pandemic change the world and what role can higher education play in building back better?
- Protecting the planet: many of the challenges facing the world can only be tackled through global action. Traditional methods of working internationally are being challenged by restrictions imposed by Covid as well as by imperative on all sectors of society to reduce their carbon footprint.

Proposals are welcomed on the ways in which we understand the objectives of learners, the mechanisms by which global tertiary education might ensure that these objectives are being met, and the political, social and cultural contexts in which their objectives are reflected.

“One of the striking features of Going Global is (its) convening power. Not every organisation or country can pull these kinds of international leaders and policymakers (together). I think Going Global has rightly earned that reputation.”

Ibrahim Yakasai, Director
National Universities Commission, Nigeria

You know what the diplomats, what the ministers, what the leading researchers in higher education are thinking about, what they want to focus on next. And that kind of thought leadership is something that will stay with me.
