A Tale of Two Cities

Get Engaged and Inspired with more Fresh Talents at the Workshop...

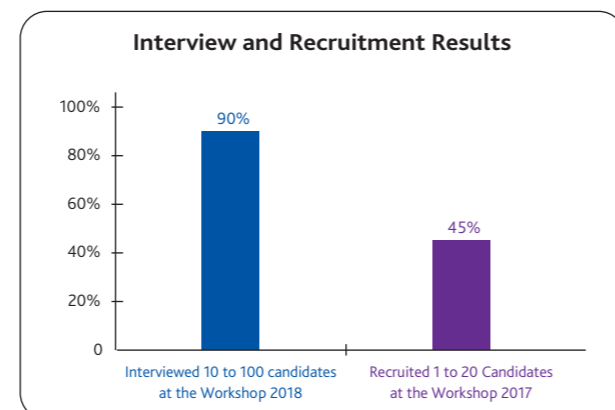

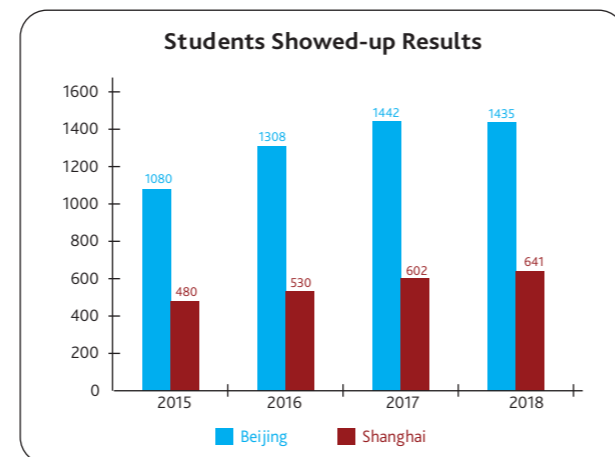

The Success Story Continues in Beijing and Shanghai...

The 10th edition PhD Workshop China 2018 has attracted 1400+ and 640+ candidates in Beijing and Shanghai respectively, continuing its success story since 2009.

The workshop has proven year after year to be the most effective platform to recruit Chinese students looking for PhD programs. A loyal base of participating delegates from over 70 institutions are proof of this claim. The event is recognized by many Chinese and overseas leading universities and research organizations.

After 10 years of supporting international PhD programs, the workshop is a place for them to gather information to help them make an informed choice for their PhD study, which is why we have seen more students showing up....

According to the post-event report 2018, more than 90% of delegates interviewed 10 to 100 candidates, and more than 45% of delegates recruited 1 to 20 candidates at the workshop 2017.

New Change Because of You and for You...

In response to the active and invaluable feedbacks and expectations from the delegates, your DAY is coming this year — 10:00-17:00 Nov. 26 in Shanghai is ready to provide a sense of accomplishment for all concerned.

While keeping schedule unchanged on the first day in Beijing, a new time on the last day is reset — 09:00-12:00, Nov. 24 to improve the intensity of visitors flow.

We are convinced that it is important to keep the balance between two cities to bring everyone together, connect and open up interviews. We wish the new format will encourage more quality involvement and interaction between the delegates and candidates, thus helping make the workshop more effective and productive.

Smart iSchedule System Gets Smarter...

The iSchedule system has been improved and upgraded since 2009, which is now getting more and more relevant and effective with the delegates and candidates. The system will not only help you preview pre-registered students data ahead of time and select the right candidates, but also ensure you to track them by instant online messages communication and meet with the talents of the highest quality you shortlisted, making your attendance as effective as possible.
