

Call for UK institutions to contribute to Arts & Creative Design Booklet

The British Council is delighted to invite UK institutions to contribute content for an upcoming booklet that will showcase arts and creative design subjects to students in China.

What is the Arts & Creative Design Booklet?

It is a Chinese language brochure that will focus on arts and creative design subjects as offered by UK institutions. Students in China who have an interest in these subject areas will use it to gain information about the subject areas and the institutions offering related courses.

Promotion and distribution of the booklet will be coordinated with other Education UK marketing initiatives in China to gain maximum exposure.

Benefits

The Arts & Creative Design Booklet offers a highly accessible and cost-effective channel for UK institutions to promote their offering to an audience of prospective students in China.

We expect the booklet to reach an audience of 50,000 readers through online and offline channels in 2015/16, allowing participating institutions to promote their offering among Chinese students who are specifically interested in these subject areas.

Promotion and distribution of the booklet will be coordinated with the British Council China's education marketing all year round, including national education exhibitions, education agent workshops, and other local events. The booklet will also be distributed to related training schools and education agencies across the country to provide subject-specific knowledge to their education consultants.

An electronic copy of the booklet will also be uploaded to the British Council's official Education UK website in China for free download by the general public from October 2015 to March 2016.

Requirements

UK institutions will be required to provide the following content:

- If your institution applies to reserve an advertorial page, it is advised to provide a ready-to-print artwork design with page dimensions of 210mm x 210mm, so that you will have your branding elements presented on the page. The British Council China is able to provide basic design services on request.
- If your institution applies to reserve a profile page, a standard page layout will be used. You will need to provide a high-resolution file of your institution's logo and two or three photos. A content collection form will be provided to collect information to be included in the text, which may include a brief introduction of your institution and facilities; detailed information on your arts and creative design offering; profiles of academic staff, students and alumni; scholarships; and other general information about studying at your institution. All material should be provided as text files (.doc) and photos (.jpg).

As the booklet will be produced in Chinese language it is recommended that participating institutions provide all content in Chinese. Alternatively, the British Council China can arrange chargeable high-quality translation services for institutions that submit content in English.

Please note that we retain the right of abridgment for the content in case it exceeds the stipulated number of words.
