FUTURA is primarily a Catalan Fair in terms of both attendees and exhibitors with few attending institutions from abroad (or even other Spanish regions). This presents an ideal opportunity to position a differentiated and international offer via a Study UK branded section.

We are sure that attendance at FUTURA 2018 will make a positive contribution to numbers of PG applications from Spain.

Visitors' profile

Spain is the fourth largest contributor of EU students (10,000+ in 2016-17) to the UK's Higher Education sector.

FUTURA does not operate an electronic visitor registration process but audiences purchase tickets to attend. Sign up to FUTURA's electronic updates via their website is an optional feature which is not linked to Fair attendance so data on visitor profile is not available to British Council.

However, organisers do acknowledge the following:

- 6,500 focused graduates exploring PG study options
- Visitors are very open to studying outside of Catalunya (20% of the visitors would consider programmes outside Spain and 10% of all visitors are actively looking to go abroad)
- high level of awareness amongst visitors of international rankings given that Catalan universities are consistently the highest ranked amongst Spanish universities in international and European rankings

UK Exhibitors and British Council staff 2018 identified the following characteristics:

- visitors to the StudyUK section were mainly inquiring about health related subjects, education & various engineering options
- the StudyUK section succeeded in attracting high levels of footfall which was sustained more or less uniformly throughout our two day participation
- high interest from the Catalan audiences about studying in Scotland
- visitors highly qualified in terms of English language levels and graduate qualifications

Exhibitor Feedback

Exhibitors appreciated professionalism from British Council venue staff

Branding and visibility were highly praised and valued.

“Our experience at the FUTURA event was extremely positive, and definitely an event that we would like to continue attending in the future.” Exhibitor 2018

Future steps – learning points

FUTURA is the best PG Fair in Spain (in terms of quantity and profile of visitors) and a must for UK Education. We will maintain our offer as long as there is a minimum of 6 UK Universities per day interested in exhibiting, as it is also expensive.

“The most common question/prejudice to break is that UK PGs are much more expensive than Spanish programmes.” Exhibitor 2018. Perhaps awareness raising campaign regarding fees and funding options for PG study in the UK would be of value to the sector.

We hope to see you in 2019!
