ABOUT THE OPPORTUNITIES IN THAILAND

In terms of UK student recruitment, Thailand is one of the key countries; with more than 6,000 Thais currently studying in UK higher education. Thailand is ranked as one of the top ten non-EU countries sending students to the UK. However, for TNE, the number of students is less than 1,000.

Unlike neighbouring countries such as Malaysia and Singapore, Thailand is considered an emerging market for TNE. There are nearly 200 higher education institutions in Thailand; as such there is potential for growth - in terms of both partner institutions and for student recruitment.

Thailand TNE market potential at a glance:

- Thailand sits among the top six countries in South East Asia and hosts the largest number of international schools. There are currently over 100 international schools in Thailand with a consistent increase in the number of students recruited.
- Thailand hosts approximately 12,000 international students. These are mainly from China, Cambodia, and Myanmar.
- Thailand's strategic location in South East Asia is driving its aim to become a 'hub' in several areas such as: Education, Digitalisation, Medicine, and Aviation.
- In September 2017 the Thai government passed Article 44 into law; which is aimed at promoting Higher Education through Highly Potential Foreign Institutions. This is the first time a new law has been passed to facilitate a timely process aimed at setting up a branch campus for foreign universities in Thailand. The article's provisions include offering tax exemptions and other benefits to overseas institutions.
